As we enter this time of new possibilities & new priorities, curiosity & play are more critical than ever to navigate this new future.

The future is not what we expected. The world has been disrupted on every front. We are no longer tumbling towards a future that already feels decided. Now, we have the opportunity to create something new and better, together. And the way we get there is by being playful, and being curious.

Curious minds are primed to adapt to change. They create new possibilities, pathways and connections with others, and with ideas.

Adding play into the mix supercharges our curiosity.

Research shows us that playful humans are bold and creative. They are willing to take risks or try something new, even if it might make them look silly. Playful humans are also happier humans.

Bringing it all together is where the magic happens. gives us courage and allows us to get clarity about what really matters.

Are you ready to be curiously playful?

I help organisations supercharge their most powerful resource - the humans who work for them – through the power of play and curiosity. I’m a multi award-winning play-based strategist, certified facilitator, innovation columnist, researcher, and the creator of SUPERCONNECT, a methodology built on LEGO® Serious Play® that rapidly connects people and teams while providing meaningful insights and clarity that make moving forward feel easy and joyful.

Curiosity and play have sparked the biggest breakthroughs in history. So, when you foster them in the workplace, it connects people back to each other and empowers teams to new approaches, overcome longstanding roadblocks and face the future with clarity and confidence.

I work with organisations like Commonwealth Bank of Australia, RSM, Deakin University, the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada, Microsoft, Mozilla Foundation, the Australian Computer Society, the RAC (WA) and the Department of Finance (WA) to unleash their curiosity and empower their people. My work has been featured on MTV, at the Toronto International Film Festival and the National Theatre in London and the new WA Museum.

Supercharging human connection through the power of curiosity and purposeful play.

The past two years have changed the game in life and at work, and as we continue to zoom and pivot through rapidly changing environments, our ability to connect with ourselves and each other has never been more important.

As we shift into new possibilities, human connection needs to become SUPERCHARGED to collaboratively create this new future, while bringing us back to each other.

SUPERCONNECT® is a powerful play-based facilitation, strategy, collaboration and engagement methodology that creates connection, clarity and confidence.

Using the familiarity, comfort, fun and playfulness of LEGO bricks, the SUPERCONNECT™ method offers a proven, evidence-based method to quickly and safely create trust, understanding and connection between people of all ages and backgrounds while gaining deep insight and clarity around issues that require input from many voices.

Through carefully crafted, intentional questions combined with the magic of play and LEGO, SUPERCONNECT® enables individuals, groups and teams of all sizes to playfully and safely explore thoughts, feelings, experiences, challenges, obstacles and even hopes and dreams by building and sharing together.

Igniting Curiosity

FOR FOSTERING INNOVATION, BOOSTING CREATIVITY AND SPARKING HUMAN CONNECTION

In this powerful keynote + hands-on workshop, participants embark on a curious journey of discovery and connection, with themselves, and their fellow participants.

The keynote focuses on the power of curiosity and play, which have been scientifically proven to supercharge engagement, collaboration and performance in the workplace. However, like all superpowers, curiosity and play can only be activated through action so the workshop is designed for participants to get minds-on and then hands-on through Dr. Kate’s SUPERCONNECT™ Method.

SUPERCONNECT™ is built on LEGO® Serious Play®, a tool used by global megabrands such as Virgin, IKEA and Samsung, and combines curious intentional questions with LEGO bricks, to rapidly create trust, clarity and understanding and while boosting creativity, innovation and happiness.

OUTCOMES
- Immediately actionable strategies to bring more curiosity and playfulness into their lives and work to which the research shows improves client satisfaction, boosts creativity, innovation and problem solving, while also increasing happiness and wellbeing.

- A hands on experience of being playful and curious about themselves and their colleagues, giving them increased insight, an improved sense of connection with and a morale boost... and by directly experiencing these benefits, participants have an incentive to keep being more curious and playful.

- A happiness and morale boost! Participants report feeling like they’ve had a therapy session – which is in line with the research that suggests play is a critical part of mental health – or that they’ve been given deeper insight and connection to their colleagues, even if they’ve worked together for a long time.

- 65-80 minutes, customised to best fit your event

- In person or virtual delivery

We had the pleasure of having Dr Kate as our keynote speaker at our recent Business and Finance Symposium and I can’t recommend her highly enough. She held our audience of 200 captivated as she shared her passion for igniting curiosity in both your personal and professional life. This was all capped off with her interactive LEGO session as our guests explored the concept of curiosity and what it means to them. Feedback from our guests was overwhelmingly positive. Thanks for sharing your story and helping to make us all a bit more curious Kate.

We live in a curious world, and humans are fundamentally curious beings. Why? Because curiosity has an evolutionary purpose. People had to be curious about what was happening around them. Without curiosity, they wouldn’t survive in a changing world.

Today, that world is changing faster than ever before. Technological disruption calls us to learn more quickly than we ever have had to before. So how do we inspire, educate and activate curiosity as a driving force within organisations seeking to thrive today and into the future?

In this keynote, Dr. Kate takes the audience on an adventure to unlock the art of curiosity. What is the science behind the curious mind? What tools can we use to enhance curiosity, creativity and purposeful playfulness? At the heart of this presentation is the unlocking of a curious mindset and as a strategy for life and business.

“Kate is an exceptionally genuine person who is generous with her time and expertise. Kate spoke at our recent Connect Expo and was a joy to work with in the lead up and execution of the event. I am happy to say that I will keep Kate top of mind for further opportunities to collaborate and suggest others do the same.”

MASTERING THE MOST SIGNIFICANT SOFT SKILL IN THE 21ST CENTURY.

Audiences will walk away from this presentation with tools, insights and experiences that will enable them to master The Curious Quotient and in doing so enhance the soft human skills that act as the foundation for innovation, creativity, collaboration and connection. After all, technology may be empowering the software, but human curiosity is what fundamentally creates and or changes the game.

OUTCOMES

- Skills For The Future of Work
- Future Trends and Emerging Tech
- Innovation
- Creativity & Collaboration

“Dr. Kate Raynes-Goldie lives in the intersection of creative curiosity and credible contribution. As a speaker and business influencer, Kate lives on the edge of the future, translating the vast, expansive and ever-evolving world of emerging technology. She has a sharp focus on amplifying curiosity as the number one skill for leaders and organisations seeking to navigate an unknown world with clarity and forward momentum. I highly recommend booking Dr. Kate as a speaker.”

Curious Diversity

INNOVATION THROUGH STRATEGIC INCLUSION

If we want to ignite innovation within an organisation, we must also build diverse and inclusive cultures that act as the fuel for curious explorations. It is through a different set of experiences, perspectives, and backgrounds… and a curious mind… that we can develop new ideas. A diverse and inclusive workforce is necessary to enhance collaboration, foster creativity, and guide business strategies.

To ignite innovation within an organisation, we must also build diverse and inclusive cultures that act as the fuel for curious explorations. It is through a different set of experiences, perspectives, and backgrounds that we can develop new ideas. A diverse and inclusive workforce is necessary to enhance collaboration, foster creativity, and guide business strategies.

So where do we begin in getting curious about the power of diversity, and intentional about the application of diverse innovation processes? In this presentation, Dr Kate breaks down the role of diversity in the modern workplace, with a particular focus increasing the involvement of women. She offers mastery, insights and experience with regards to how organisations can work together to problem solve and to create shared narratives that bridge gender divides.

Curious Clarity

EXPLORE AND TRANSFORM TOGETHER

Give your event attendees a transformative experience like no other using the magic of SUPERCONNECT® LEGO® Serious Play®.

Designed around one of your event’s key themes or topics, participants will be invited to use LEGO® to explore a specific theme or response to a critical challenge. They will activate their curiosity to build pathways to new solutions. Rather than just listening to a PowerPoint, participants are actively engaged in an hands-on experience. It’s the difference between reading about riding a bike, and actually riding a bike.

Curious Clarity

EXPLORE AND TRANSFORM TOGETHER

The LEGO® bricks work as a catalyst – and when used for building metaphors, they trigger a process that enables clarity of purpose, enhanced communication, conflict resolution, problem-solving and engaged connection.

Using LEGO® gets also past the small talk and into meaningful conversation. In a recent workshop exploring diversity, a number of participants were able to open up around personal topics that they had never previously felt comfortable sharing with other participants. By creating this space of psychological safety, you’re able to give your participants the experience of authentic connection that is so craved right now.

Research shows that this kind of hands-on, minds-on learning produces a deeper, more meaningful understanding of the world and its possibilities. This workshop can also be paired with any keynote, and as the participants build the outcomes, the workshop by its very nature is highly customised to meet a specific brief.

Curious & Connected Teams

SUPERCHARGE YOUR TEAM

To cultivate an innovative, collaborative and inclusive workplace either in-person or remotely, you have to begin by SUPERCONNECTING your team. Great for morale boosts, team cohesion, and welcoming new staff, especially for remote teams.

Similar to speed networking, this session supercharges team building with a fresh, fun and evidence-based approach that combines customised curious questions with the power of LEGO® Serious Play®.

As research shows, the curiosity and play fosters trust and understanding.

By using LEGO to build answers rather than say them, participants feel safe to open up, share deeply and think differently about themselves and each other.

This session creates a judgement-free, safe environment where connection and innovation thrive.

Participants have reported feeling a greater sense of understanding and connection with colleagues, even ones they’ve known for a long time.

Solutions Builder

BUILD A NEW WAY FORWARD, TOGETHER

Imagine if your team could access new perspectives and solutions to the really sticky problems with ease? Imagine if problem-solving could be, well, more fun? This is a great choice for turbocharging organisational or behavioural change in your workplace.

Through the magic of LEGO, this workshop enables your team to visually build and rebuild a problem together so it can be seen in a new way and unlock new solutions and opportunities.

By using LEGO as a shared language, everyone in the room can contribute their knowledge and experiences regardless of differences in communication style or hierarchy. Participants report visualising and sharing their challenges makes them feel less scary, while also helping them to see how similar their experiences are to their peers and leaders.

This process ensures psychological safety and empowers deep connection, collaboration and creative outcomes.

FEATURES

- Half or full day workshop, length and content customised to most effectively address your problem or question
- Ideal for smaller teams facing a sticky challenge or question needing input from everyone
- In person or virtual delivery
- Includes hire of LEGO for up to 200 participants in person, with option for larger groups
- Option to provide participants with a customised SUPERCONNECT® LEGO® kit with your branding that they can take home as a memorable gift from you.

“Kate is a remarkably capable, inspiring and thoughtful person... I was particularly impressed with her abilities as a coach. I was presumably not the easiest speaker to work with, carrying a mixture of nervousness and fixed ideas to the event, and can attest to Kate’s patience and consideration. There is no question that she is one of our best and brightest.”

SCOTT LUDLAM, AUTHOR, TEDX SPEAKER AND FORMER SENATOR FOR WESTERN AUSTRALIA

“It was my pleasure to invite Kate to join me with three other VR/visualisation experts on a panel on ‘3D Graphics in the World Wide Web’ at this year’s International World Wide Web conference, held in Perth in April. Kate provided thoughtful insight and clear strategic thinking that provided enormous benefit to a room of researchers and practitioners. I would recommend Kate as someone qualified to talk to professionals around these emerging topics in a clear, articulate and engaging way.

MARK PESCE, FUTURIST, PODCASTER & INVENTOR OF VRML (VIRTUAL REALITY MARKUP LANGUAGE) AUSTRALIA

“We were very fortunate to secure Kate as a Keynote Speaker at the 2019 WA Education Summit that was held at Optus Stadium earlier this year. Her engaging and energetic talk discussed leveraging games as a culture to help prepare for the future of work and education, and what a response it had on our audience! We broke Twitter, yes, we broke Twitter! OK, we trended second nationally with our hashtag #WAES19 while Kate was talking: not bad at all! Twitter aside, the feedback on her talk was incredible. Her message about the Power of Play was thought provoking and powerful, and the delegates embraced it. Thanks again Kate for helping to make our event such a success!”

SARAH FEARNE, MARKETING & COMMUNICATIONS MANAGER, SOLUTIONS IT AUSTRALIA

“Entertaining, bold, and clever. Those are just a few of the words you can use to describe Dr Kate. She has more talent and skills at keynote event facilitation featuring Lego than [Lego Masters’ hosts] Will Arnett and Hamish Blake combined. As the star attraction of my organization’s virtual AGM, Kate kept the audience entertained and intrigued with her presentation and accompanying workshop. A truly memorable and inspiring presenter!”

ANDREW KRUPOWICZ, INTERNAL AUDITORS ASSOCIATION TORONTO CHAPTER

“Kate is a top class thinker, leader and facilitator. She ran a games/XR workshop for me at Deakin a while back which got rave reviews from colleagues. She is hands on and effective, not a “lecturer” but a leader to new ideas.”

“Experiencing a LEGO Serious Play session with Kate was eye opening to say the least. With Kate’s guidance, we got really curious on the way to best frame the questions I had at that moment. Cue the playlist and set the timer – a recipe for us overthinkers to channel that energy into feeling the shapes, the colors, and the music. You are brought into the present moment to see the metaphors arise from the scenes you create.”

ADRIANA DOUGLAS, AIG RETAIL PROPERTY MULTINATIONAL LEADER ATLANTA UNITED STATES

“We also had an unprecedented level of positive feedback at this year’s event, and Kate played an important part of that.”

ALICE BURGIN, CEO AUSTRALIAN INTERNATIONAL DOCUMENTARY CONFERENCE (AIDC) AUSTRALIA

“I wanted to work out some things for myself around clarity. Kate asked some incredibly succinct questions, and then stood by and held space while I built [with Lego] what it felt clear to have focus and clarity... Every time I built I didn’t have a clue what I was building, but I suddenly feel like I have a real sense of what the feeling is going to be. And that’s given me a sense of clarity I never dreamed I come from such a thing. So, I’m blown away by how learning to play under the quiet insightful guidance from Kate has given me the way forward.”

SUE FULLER-GOOD, PHYSIOTHERAPIST, KEYNOTE SPEAKER & COACH SOUTH AFRICA

“I recently worked with Kate to deliver RAC’s tech demo day. She is extremely knowledgeable in all things game development and tech and was a pleasure to work with. If you are looking to introduce new concepts such as VR/AR/MR to your people, I would definitely recommend Kate.”

CETTINA RACCUIA, HEAD OF CoLAB, RAC WA AUSTRALIA

“I’ve always holding space for my CEOs and business owners and senior executives. [I was] feeling strangely disconnected from myself, and the usual things that I would do to reconnect, just weren’t making a difference... We created some beautiful questions to go through and she had me building things and playing... I woke up the next morning I was reconnected. And that for me was just priceless...I’m now feeling centred grounded and connected. I can’t wait for what I’m going to provide for my clients when I’m back in Cape Town.”

MANDY RUSSELL, PERFORMANCE COACH & EXECUTIVE FRIEND SOUTH AFRICA

“Kate moderated our Q&A session with acclaimed game designer Navid Khonsari at AIDC 2017. I was thoroughly impressed with Kate’s work, especially about the quality of the conversation and rapport between her and Navid.”
